THE WASHINGTON TIMES

Confers With Capitol Leaders on Legislation for Present Session.

> By J. BART CAMPBELL, International News Service.

President Harding was still en gaged today in a series of personal conferences with Republican Senators and Congressmen, which are expected to break the legislative logjam confronting Congress.

It was believed that a legislative program would be worked out which would permit the passage at this session of the ship subsidy bill, as well as of the tariff and soldiers' bonus

Doubt was expressed, however, by Republican leaders if the ship subsidy could be taken care of without the session dragging well into the summer. Considerable opposition has developed to it among both Re-publican and Democratic Senators, it was stated, but the President was said to have agreed with Chairman Lasker, of the Shipping Board, that ship subsidy legislation must be enacted at this session if the American merchant marine is to be pre-

Senator McNary of Oregon was among the Republican leaders who called at the White House today to liscuss with the President the possibility of the $350,000,000 reclamation bill being pressed for final action at this session by the Administration McNary, chairman of the Senate Reclamation Committee, and author of the bill, has the backing of ion that the reclamation projects contemplated by the measure ought to be carried out without further

Senator Capper of Kansas, chairman of the Senate "agricultural bloc," is equally insistent that the so-called farmers' bills still pending before the Senate be enacted before the end of this session.

A substantial reduction in the present freight rates on farm products, as recommended by the Joint Congressional Commissional of Agricultural Inquiry, is but part of the legislation which both Capper and McNary, as leaders of the Senate "agricultural bloc," are demanding nmediate action upon. The army and navy appropriation bills, about which the House has raised such a ruction, are yet to be passed by the Senate, while a number of minor measures of "local" itaportance to Senators are pressing for passage.

St. Onge Completing Details For Run to Potomac Park. Prizes to Be Given.

Fred St. Onge, who will be the pace maker in The Washington Times sociability bicycle run next Sunday afternoon, starting from the Peace Monument at 3 o'clock, today announced plans for the unusual event had been virtually completed and that he was intensely gratified over the interest manifested in the "back to the wheel movement."

Hundreds of cyclists have anounced their intentions of being in line when the run starts, and riding Whistle and other refreshments will be served and a number of awards made. With three high-grade bicycles, two pairs of tires and two bicycle lamps for prizes—without the payment of any entrance or registra-tion fees—local cyclists have something pleasurable to which to look At Potomac Park, St. Onge will demonstrate the right and wrong ways to ride a bicycle. From present indications the success of the affair is assured.

Backers of Affair. Some of the local bicycle dealers who are behind St. Onge in his efforts to increase interest in bicycle riding are John S. Berryman, Cy Cauffman, Haverford Cycle Company, E. P. Hazleton, F. L. Leishear, Munger Brothers, National Sport Shop, Romm & Flatow, Harry F. Seamark, Seigel Cycle Company, and they are working overtime to have everything in readiness for the cele bration. "We want the participants, an particularly the parents of the youngsters, to understand that the sociability ride is not a racing event," St. Onge said, "but it will be a big bicycle rally conducted on behalf on the local bicycle dealers. It is for the purpose of stimulating interest in the healthful sport of bicycling and fostering its development under competent supervision that these runs are given, and to create a sense of justice that the bicycle rightfully deserves." All those having bicycles regard-less of age and whether or not the machines are of ancient contraption are urged to bring them out and take part in the affair. The bicycle is ecoming more and more in eviden each day as a part of modern life, and cyclists, perhaps, do not know that the bicycle of today represents a century of development. To get an idea of the difference between the weird styles used years ago, such as the kind ridden by St. Onge, and then comparing them with the mod-Traffic arrangements for the army ern safety wheels, with their pneumatic tires and coaster brakes, one tonight were announced to-follows: can easily see the improvements. NOREDS PLAN RIDER SHOWS PERFECT FORM ON A BICYCLE

This picture shows Fred St. Onge, director of The Washington Times' big Sociability Bicycle Run next Sunday, in the correct position in which to ride a bicycle safely and well. St. Onge says "The saddle should be high enough to allow the heel to touch the pedal when it is at its lowest point, and the handlebars should be level with the saddle." St. Onge was brought here by The Washington Times to stimulate the "back to the wheel" movement. The Sociability Ride starts from the Peace Monument at 3 o'clock Sun-
